About the property

The Korrak Korrak Grassland Reserve was purchased in two separate sections, 9 years apart. The first 246 hectares was purchased in 2001 with the support of the National Reserve System Program and the RE Ross Trust. In 2010, a further 254 hectares was added into this reserve, being purchased by Trust for Nature.

The reserve is a remnant grassland and provides excellent habitat for a variety of grassland-dependant species. The reserve protects a significant area of the national critically endangered “Natural Grasslands of the Murray Valley Plains”.

The nationally significant Plains Wanderer (Pedionomus torquatus) is known to be present within the local area.

An array of native flora species are present including a number of species with national threatened significance. This includes the Chariot Wheels (Maireana cheelii) and Murray Swainson-pea (Swainsona murrayana).
